*Last week:
How were fugitives from Ephriam's army detected?
BY THE WAY THEY PRONOUNCED THE
WORD "SHIBBOLETH" (Judges 12:5,6).*

[illegible]

In June of this year, a story hit the newswires reporting that two employees from the Mars Wrigley candy company had fallen into a vat of chocolate at the M&M factory in Elizabethtown, PA. The vat was reported to be about waist-deep but evidently was so thick that multiple fire trucks had to be called to the scene to get them out. Eventually first responders cut a hole in the side of the tank to free the men from their confectionary confines. Needless to say, the report gave way to all kinds of jokes on social media, with numerous wisecracks referencing Willie Wonka and Oompa Loompas. One national reporter even quipped, “If this happens to me, don’t rescue me. This is how I’d wanna go!”

Thankfully, Psalm 40 is not a lament, but a song of deliverance. For the writer praises the ways in which God intervened in this moment of total despair.

Though it was his darkest hour, the psalmist sings praise that God heard him, pulled him out of the miry depths to solid ground, and changed his tune from mourning to joy.

The Bible is like a telescope; it is not to look at but to look through.

Christianity must be lived as well as believed.

God doesn't need great men . . . great men need God.
