Sermon Notes

THE SPIDER Living In A Man's Ear

The Chinese man felt discomfort in his ear in the middle of the night but just tried to sleep it off. By morning, the discomfort was still there and he was even hearing noises like someone was beating a drum. Wisely, he went into the doctor right away. Doctor Cui Shulin and his nurses took a look and found a spider in his ear. Not only was the spider living, but it had already spun a complex series of webs in the ear canal to help shield itself. Thankfully, the doctor was able to extract the spider by spraying water into the man's ear canal. The man suffered no injuries from the uninvited guest (Fox News).

Stories like these are how nightmares are born. For a person who squirms around spiders, this one sends chills down my spine like no other. I don't ever want a spider on me. Having I spider IN me? I just hope the Lord comes back first.

We've all had smaller encounters with uninvited guests. A gnat in the eve. Swallowing a bug. And each time they are gross and troublesome. But none of these compare to one particular unwelcome visitor who has wiggled into all our lives: SATAN.

No, Satan hasn't literally camped out inside us, but the sinful effects of his work in this world certainly have. The more we let the webs of sin entangle our lives, the harder it becomes to escape (Hebrews 12:1). We have to work constantly to not even allow him a foothold (Ephesians 4:27).

The Chinese man had the right idea. He noticed the problem and immediately took steps to solve it. The quick solution is the same for us. Don't let the sin spider continue to spin its webs in your life. Take care of it right away.

"Trick or Treat"

Halloween is upon us, and with it will come visions of ghosts, little demons, and goblins. We will treat them at our doors with assorted sweets or else face their devilish "tricks" (or so says tradition). It is a fun time for kids and parents alike.

This is a good time to look back at the very first "Trick or Treat" in man's history. Satan donned his "serpent" mask and came knocking on Eve's door in the Garden of Eden. He "tricked" her into eating a "treat" which had been forbidden by God. "God has said, 'You shall not eat from it or touch it, or you will die." The serpent said to the woman, "You surely will not die!" (Genesis 3:3, 4). Satan's trick upon Eve brought death upon all mankind.

The devil continues today with his tricks of deceptions and his treats of addictions. crime, murder, and worldliness. church is as good as another," "Baptism is not necessary to salvation," or "Once saved always saved," are deceptions that has Satan's fingerprints all over them. "And the great dragon was thrown down, the serpent of old who is called the devil and Satan, who deceives the whole world!" (Revelation 12:9). He wears many masks and has a large wardrobe of costumes to deceive the world. Will you be deceived when he comes knocking on vour door?
